Victoria A. Lipnic, of Virginia, to be a Member of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission for a term expiring July 1, 2015.

NOMINATION OF LOUIS BUTLER

Mr. KOHL. Madam President, I am deeply disappointed that the Senate has failed to vote on Louis Butler's nomination to the district court for the Western District of Wisconsin. The partisan bickering that has prevented a debate and vote on several district court nominees is a stark reversal of Senate tradition and practice.

Justice Butler is exceptionally well qualified for the Federal bench. By dint of hard work and perseverance, Justice Butler rose from humble beginnings to be an accomplished lawyer, advocate, trial court judge, Wisconsin Supreme Court justice, and professor. Few nominees have such a strong record of public service. Justice Butler's career has been distinguished by the years he has spent fulfilling the Constitution's guarantee of an attorney and fair trial for all Americans, rich and poor alike. He cut his teeth as a young lawyer representing defendants who could not afford legal representation. As a trial court judge, he earned a reputation for being a tough but fair jurist and was recognized as a top Milwaukee judge.

Justice Butler was the first African American to sit on the Wisconsin Supreme Court and he served there with distinction for 4 years. During his time on the court, he participated in hundreds of cases, many of which were decided by a unanimous or near-unanimous court. He proved himself to be a hard-working, thoughtful and consensus-building justice.

We ask our judges to make the most difficult decisions in the closest cases, neither an easy nor simple task. Over the course of Justice Butler's tenure as a trial judge and a State supreme court justice, he has faithfully carried out this duty by following the law with the impartiality, integrity and respect that we demand of a judge. Justice Butler has an impressive legal background that would serve our Federal bench well. Indeed he is a very fine man. He is deeply committed to the law, to his community, and to his family.

Justice Butler's nomination proves once again that the process we use in Wisconsin to choose Federal judges and U.S. attorneys ensures excellence. The Wisconsin Federal Nominating Commission has been used to select Federal judges and U.S. attorneys in Wisconsin for 30 years. Through a great deal of cooperation and careful consideration, and by keeping politics to a minimum, we always find highly qualified candidates like Justice Butler.

I believe that Justice Butler would make a fine addition to the Federal bench, and I regret that he and other district court nominees have not been given the up-or-down votes that they deserve.

NOMINATIONS OF GOODWIN LIU AND EDWARD CHEN

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Madam President, I rise today to discuss two promising Asian-American judicial nominees from my State of California who have been denied simple, straightforward up-or-down votes on the floor of this body for what I believe are very spurious reasons.

Goodwin Liu is associate dean and professor of law at the University of California, Berkeley, Boalt Hall School of Law. He has a truly outstanding record as a great legal mind:

Phi Beta Kappa from Stanford and co-president of the Student Body; a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford; a J.D. from Yale Law School and an editor on the Yale Law Journal; judicial clerkships on the D.C. Circuit and the U.S. Supreme Court; recipient of both the Education Law Association's Award for Distinguished Scholarship and the University of California at Berkeley's highest award for teaching.

Recognizing his brilliance, President Obama chose Professor Liu for a seat on the Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit.

I have met personally with Goodwin Liu on several occasions, including a 4-hour discussion. I had him to my home for dinner. His status as a first-rate legal mind is undeniable.

And his support for this nomination is legion:

Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg, former judge and Solicitor General Ken Starr, leading conservative lawyer Clint Bolick, California Correctional Peace Officers Association, 34 former prosecutors, Numerous education leaders, including former Secretary of Education Richard Riley and Joel Klein, the Chancellor of the New York City schools, and Numerous representatives of the Asian-American community.

One set of support was particularly impressive to me. In the only time that I have seen the serving president and two former presidents of a major university write in support of a nominee or issue, the three most recent presidents of Stanford University, John Hennessy, Gerhard Casper, and Donald Kennedy, wrote to support Professor Liu's nomination, saying, in part:

Goodwin Liu as a student, scholar, and trustee has epitomized the goal of Stanford's founders, which was "to promote the public welfare by exercising an influence on behalf of humanity and civilization, teaching the blessings of liberty regulated by law, and inculcating love and reverence for the great principles of government as derived from the inalienable rights of man to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." We highly recommend Goodwin Liu for the honor and responsibility of serving on the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit.

I admit that some of Professor Liu's writing have been questioned by conservatives. It is true that Goodwin Liu would not be a conservative judge. However, I do not believe that he would be an activist judge.

As I have watched debates over the judiciary in my eighteen years in the Senate, the perception of "judicial activism" is for the party on the other side. Many believe that this current Supreme Court under Chief Justice Roberts is one of the more activist courts ever. It is indisputable that it has overturned many precedents that had stood for decades.

Goodwin Liu deserves to have a fair up-or-down vote, as other controversial circuit court nominees have received. If a senator opposes his nomination, let them vote against him. That is what we are here for—to cast our votes yea or nay, up or down. But don't let Professor Liu die on the calendar, without even having the courage to give him a vote.

Even worse in many ways is the similar treatment that Magistrate Judge Edward Chen has received. I recommended Judge Chen for a judgeship in the Northern District of California. If confirmed, he would be the first judge of Chinese descent to serve in this district, with its notable Chinese heritage.

This would not be a novel role for Judge Chen: for the past 9 years, he has served as a magistrate judge on this same court. And his service there has been impeccable, and apparently unsailable: he has written more than 350 published opinions in that time, and there has not been an objection to a single one of them.

But opponents of his nomination are hanging their hat on one quote from him, taken out of context.

One of the darkest chapters in this country's history was the wholesale internment of Japanese-Americans during World War II. The Supreme Court upheld this heinous practice in the notorious case of Korematsu v. United States. In 1988, Congress passed and President Reagan signed the Civil Liberties Act and issued a formal apology for the internment. Before serving as a magistrate judge, Ed Chen represented the name party in that case, Fred
